A mouse ran by: "Little house, little house! Who lives in the little house? Oh, nobody". The mouse went into the house and began to live there.

A frog hopped by: "Little house, little house! Who lives in the little house?"

"Hello! I am a mouse. And who are you?"

"I am a frog. Let's live together."

So the mouse and the frog began living together.

A hare ran by. He saw the house and asked:

"Little house, little house! Who lives in the little house?"

"I am a mouse."

"I am a frog. And who are you?"

"And I am a hare."

The hare jumped into the house and all of them began living together. They have fun together.

Then there came a fox. She knocked on the window:

"Little house, little house! Who lives in the little house?"

"I am a mouse."

"I am a frog."

"And I am a hare. And who are you?"

"And I am a fox."

A bear walked by. He saw the house and roared:

"Little house, little house! Who lives in the little house?"

"I am a mouse."

"I am a frog."

"And I am a hare."

"And I am a fox."

"And I am a wolf. Who are you?"

"And I am a bear!!! May I live in your house?"

A hare: "Oh, no!"

A mouse: "You are too big!"

The bear was very angry and crushed the whole house!

All of the scared animals ran away "Help!Help!"

The author: “That’s why all the animals in the forest don’t live together in one house”.
